

Claims Mapping/Diagramming

The business and legal value of any patent is the claims.

answers, not just data

There are many resources from which to obtain a list of patents. But it's all manual from there.

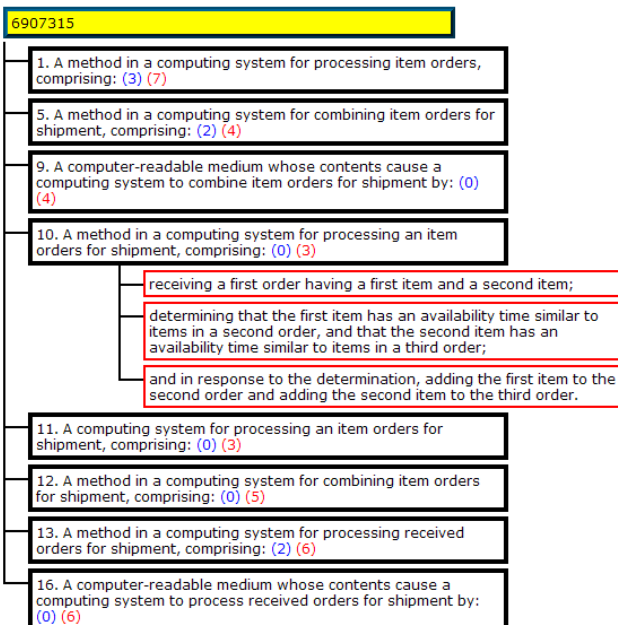

From Google to USPTO.gov, people search for patents for:

- Patentability
- Freedom to Operate/
Clearance
- Patent
Commercialization/Monetization

Clearance and Commercialization/Monetization are the most important, because even if you are just searching for Patentability, the patent won't be profitable without the other two.

So if you're searching patents, you need to quickly and clearly see what's in the claims. Neopatents' patent pending PatentMatrix Pro software is the best way to instantly see a claims map of your patent.
